

Ministry of Transport (MOT)

交通运输部

Address: 11 Jianguomennei Dajie, Beijing 100736 | Phone: 86-10-6529-2114 | Website: www.mot.gov.cn

MOT is the principal organization overseeing development strategies, regulations, and standards for road, water, rail, and air transportation, and construction and communications. Within its scope, MOT is charged with regulating the car rental industry, the transportation of vehicles for import and export, and shipping on international waterways and border rivers. It also supervises road and waterway construction quality and work safety, and is responsible for guiding environmental protection and energy conservation in the road and waterway sectors. MOT also monitors the operation of the national transportation network, collects transportation-related statistics, coordinates emergency response work, and engages in international cooperation related to roads and waterways.

Party Secretary		Minister
Yang Chuntang 杨传堂		Li Xiapeng 李小鹏

Vice Ministers and Other Senior Officials
Feng Zhenglin 冯正霖 (Vice Minister) In charge of the Civil Aviation Administration.	Ma Junsheng 马军胜 (Party Member) In charge of the State Post Bureau.	Dai Dongchang 戴东昌 (Vice Minister) Responsible for promoting rule of law, building and management of public roads, international relations (including Taiwan, Macau and Hong Kong), and retired cadre affairs.
Liu Zhenfang 刘振芳 (Party Member) In charge of the National Railway Administration.	Wang Zhiqing 王志清 (Vice Minister) Responsible for integrated planning, scientific work, and assisting in managing financial affairs and internal accounting.	Xu Yahua 徐亚华 (Chief Engineer) Responsible for the management of road engineering technology.
Jiang Mingbao 姜明宝 (Chief Engineer) Responsible for the management of waterway engineering technology.	Li Tianbi 李天碧 (Safety Director) Responsible for safety supervision and emergency management of public roads, waterway transportation, and engineering construction.	Wang Yang 汪洋 (Chief Planner) Responsible for the management of development plans and the work of the Department of Integrated Planning

Department Responsibilities and Heads
General Office (办公厅) Head: Xu Chengguang 徐成光 Responsible for general affairs, promulgation of documents, managing administration and logistics, inter-departmental coordination, and organizing transportation-related conferences and meetings.	Restructuring and Law (法制司) Head: Wei Dong 魏东 Drafts regulations and laws of railway, public roads, waterway, civic aviation, and postal service; responsible for legislative planning and coordination; responsible for reviewing the legality or related normative documents; and handle administrative appeals and responses to prosecutions against the Ministry.	Integrated Planning (综合规划司) Head: Wang Yang 汪洋 Drafts road and waterway transportation development plans, industrial development and investment policies, preparations and appraisals of construction projects (especially joint ventures), port construction plans and audits, and transportation-related industrial statistics collection.
Financial Affairs (财务审计司) Head: Xu Chunfeng 许春风 Drafts financial regulations; manages ministry finances and assets; collects, categorizes, analyzes, and releases financial information on the transportation industry; manages financing, credit, foreign exchange, government procurement, and foreign capital for transportation-related construction; conducts internal auditing.	Personnel and Labor (人事教育司) Head: Li Liangsheng 李良生 Drafts policies and regulations related to CCP and cadre personnel affairs, labor wages, and organizational structure; guides ministry technical and skills training of personnel; and seeks foreign expertise.	Roads (公路局) Drafts industrial policies, regulations, and technical standards for road construction; supervises road construction projects; manages related markets such as road and car repairs and driver training; and manages transport across borders.
Waterway Transport (水运局) Head: Li Tianbi 李天碧 Manages construction of waterway infrastructure and related projects; drafts industrial policy and technical standards; establishes maintenance, water transportation service, and emergency transportation management.	Scientific and Technology (科技司) Head: Pang Song 庞松 Drafts transportation-related standards; drafts and oversees the policies of public roads, waterway technology, and information technology; organizes and coordinates major technology research programs; responsible for works related to standards, product quality, and measuring.	Maritime Search and Rescue Center (中国海上搜救中心) Organizes, mediates, and directs maritime search and rescue efforts; responds to sea pollution emergencies and drafts related maritime regulations; attends international conventions; participates in international rescue cooperation; and manages daily affairs of the department's work with the State Council.
Office of Policy Research (政策研究室) Head: Wu Chungeng 吴春耕 Researches overall transportation development, industry; guides systematic reform of the highway development, waterways, and local transportation systems.	International Cooperation (国际合作司) Head: Li Yang 李扬 Manages foreign transportation affairs and transportation industry cooperation with foreign governments.	Safety and Quality Assurance (安全与质量监督司) Responsible for supervising the safety and quality of public roads and waterways.

Department Responsibilities and Heads
CCP Committee (直属机关党委) Head: Ke Linchun 柯林春 Responsible for MOT's CCP relations.	Retired Officials Bureau (离退休干部局) Head: Zhang Xiaobing 张晓冰 Handles MOT cadre affairs.	Service Bureau (运输服务司) Manages logistics service safeguards, planning and demands, and assets and signs related agreements; responsible for regulating the car rental industry, managing safety standards of automobiles, guiding car maintenance and performance testing work, managing driver training, and overseeing cross-provincial transport.

Note: Information accurate as of May 2021.
Source: PRC Ministry of Transport