

National Health Commission (NHC)

国家卫生健康委员会

Address: 1 Xizhimenwai South Road, Xicheng District, Beijing 100044 | Phone: 86-10-68792114 | Website: <http://www.nhc.gov.cn/>

The National Health Commission (NHC) functions as a ministerial ranked department under the State Council. NHC is primarily responsible formulating national health strategies, policies, and laws, promoting the reform of China's medical and health system, supervising medical sector and public health conditions, and guiding family planning and aging population policy work. NHC also oversees the development of the national drug management system, manages public health emergencies, and oversees the integration of medical care and pensions.

Director

Ma Xiaowei
马晓伟

Vice Ministers and Other Senior Officials

Cui Li 崔丽 (Deputy Director)	Wang Hesheng 王贺胜 (Deputy Director)	Zeng Yixin 曾益新 (Deputy Director)	Li Bin 李斌 (Deputy Director)
Ma Ben 马奔 (Head of the Discipline Group)	Wang Jianjun 王建军 (Member of the Leading Party Group)	Wang Jianjun 王建军 (Member of the Leading Party Group)

Department Responsibilities

General Office (办公厅) Coordinates commission work and manages security, confidentiality, letters and visits, government affairs disclosure.	Personnel (人事司) Formulates health talent development strategies; manages personnel work of the commission and subsidiaries; and manages the certifications for the health profession.	Planning Development and Informatization (规划发展与信息化司) Formulates long-term plans for health sector development; guides informatization; organizes health statistics; and fulfills the Framework Convention on Tobacco Control.
--	---	---

Department Responsibilities
Finance (财务司) Oversees budget and financial accounts; manages finances, asset management, and conducts internal audit.	Law and Regulation Department (法规司) Drafts laws, regulations, rules, and standards; conducts the legal review of normative documents, administrative reconsideration, and administrative response.	System Reform (体制改革司) Implements the reform of the medical, drug, and health system; researches and makes suggestions on the reform; and promotes the reform of public hospitals.
Disease Prevention and Control (疾病预防控制中心) Forms disease prevention and immunization plans and intervention measures for public health issues; and publishes information on infectious disease.	Medical Administration (医政医管局) Formulates regulatory policies for medical institutions, personnel, technology applications, medical quality and safety, services, and blood collecting and supplying organizations; and constructs the evaluation system for public hospitals.	Grassroots Health (基层卫生健康司) Forms and implements policies for grassroots health; guides the construction of the grassroots health service system; and manages rural doctors.
Health Emergency Office (Public Health Emergency Response Command Center) (卫生应急办公室 (突发公共卫生事件应急指挥中心)) Undertakes health emergency and rescue work; formulates and implements specific advance plans; guides the construction of health emergency response system; and issues response information for public health emergencies.	Science, Technology, and Education (科技教育司) Formulates development plans for health, science, and technology; supervises lab safety; and organizes medical education.	Comprehensive Supervision (综合监督局) Supervises the medical service market; inspects the health conditions of schools, public places, drinking water, and manages infectious disease prevention.
Pharmaceutical Policy and Essential Drug System (药物政策与基本药物制度司) Improves the essential drug system; formulates national drug policies and the list of essential drugs; monitors drug use and issues early warning of drug shortage; and proposes policies for drug prices and dosage policies for the production of drugs on the essential drug list.	Food Safety Standards and Monitoring and Evaluation (食品安全标准与监测评估司) Formulates national food safety standards; monitors and evaluates food safety risks; and conducts safety evaluation for new materials, food products, and food additives.	Geriatric Health (老龄健康司) Formulates and implements policies addressing ageing population issues; drafts policies and standards for the combining of medical and health services and elderly care services.
Women and Children Health (妇幼健康司) Formulates policies and standards for health of women and children; guides technologies and services related to reproduction, woman and children health.	Vocational Health (职业健康司) Formulates and implements policies for vocational health; and responsible for the investigation, prevention, and cure of vocational diseases.	Demographic Surveillance and Family Development (人口监测与家庭发展司) Monitors population and proposed policies for population and family development.

Department Responsibilities
Publicity (宣传司) Conducts health-related education and publicity; disseminates news and information related to health.	International Cooperation (Hong Kong, Macao and Taiwan Office) (国际合作司 (港澳台办公室)) Guides international communications in the field of health and manages external affairs.	Health Care (保健局) Responsible for the health of high-ranking cadres and offers health services for major conferences and activities.
Party Committees (机关党委) Manages Party activities.	Retired Cadres Bureau (离退休干部局) Serves retired ministry personnel.

Notes: Information Accurate as of December 2018.
Source: National Health Commission